CONTROL OF COMPLEX MANUFACTURING PROCESSES USING CONTINUOUS PROCESS DATA

ABSTRACT

[0075]   Complex process prediction and optimization are performed utilizing an orthogonal transform to represent time-varying continuous signals as discrete values, which are then subjected to a nonlinear regression analysis to relate between the discrete values and process metrics.